Hello hypervisor, I'm geohot

I have read/write access to the entire system memory, and HV level access to the processor. In other words, I have hacked the PS3. The rest is just software. And reversing. I have a lot of reversing ahead of me, as I now have dumps of LV0 and LV1. I've also dumped the NAND without removing it or a modchip.

3 years, 2 months, 11 days...thats a pretty secure system

Took 5 weeks, 3 in Boston, 2 here, very simple hardware cleverly applied, and some not so simple software.

Shout out to George Kharrat from iPhoneMod Brasil for giving me this PS3 a year and a half ago to hack. Sorry it took me so long :)

As far as the exploit goes, I'm not revealing it yet. The theory isn't really patchable, but they can make implementations much harder. Also, for obvious reasons I can't post dumps. I'm hoping to find the decryption keys and post them, but they may be embedded in hardware. Hopefully keys are setup like the iPhone's KBAG.

A lot more to come...follow @geohot on twitter

The PS3 have their security key inside the chip itself. All the checking and decrypting of the firmware occurs on inside one of the spus on boot up. During this isolation mode, nothing can view this process.

It's like the iPhone, a lot of features are available only by using software from the comunity, more uses for the Bluetooth, add support for ntfs file systems, there's piracy over the iPhone but it's not making a big impact on the AppStore community... Good news, however the negative side is SOny learned they could make a system which couldnt be backed for 3 years, by which time the system is almost past its cycle (in terms of hw and gfx) and the next system will have to come out in 2-3 yrs. \\The Conscience of a Hacker\\

by

+++The Mentor+++

Written on January 8, 1986

Another one got caught today, it's all over the papers. "Teenager Arrested in Computer Crime Scandal", "Hacker Arrested after Bank Tampering"...
Damn kids. They're all alike.

But did you, in your three-piece psychology and 1950's technobrain, ever take a look behind the eyes of the hacker? Did you ever wonder what made him tick, what forces shaped him, what may have molded him?

I am a hacker, enter my world...

Mine is a world that begins with school... I'm smarter than most of the other kids, this crap they teach us bores me...

Damn underachiever. They're all alike.

I'm in junior high or high school. I've listened to teachers explain for the fifteenth time how to reduce a fraction. I understand it. "No, Ms.
Smith, I didn't show my work. I did it in my head..."

Damn kid. Probably copied it. They're all alike.

I made a discovery today. I found a computer. Wait a second, this is cool. It does what I want it to. If it makes a mistake, it's because I screwed it up. Not because it doesn't like me...

Or feels threatened by me...

Or thinks I'm a smart ass...

Or doesn't like teaching and shouldn't be here...

Damn kid. All he does is play games. They're all alike.

And then it happened... a door opened to a world... rushing through the phone line like heroin through an addict's veins, an electronic pulse is sent out, a refuge from the day-to-day incompetencies is sought... a board is found.

"This is it... this is where I belong..."

I know everyone here... even if I've never met them, never talked to them, may never hear from them again... I know you all...

Damn kid. Tying up the phone line again. They're all alike...

You bet your ass we're all alike... we've been spoon-fed baby food at school when we hungered for steak... the bits of meat that you did let slip through were pre-chewed and tasteless. We've been dominated by sadists, or ignored by the apathetic. The few that had something to teach found us willing pupils, but those few are like drops of water in the desert.

This is our world now... the world of the electron and the switch, the beauty of the baud. We make use of a service already existing without paying for what could be dirt-cheap if it wasn't run by profiteering gluttons, and you call us criminals. We explore... and you call us criminals. We seek after knowledge... and you call us criminals. We exist without skin color, without nationality, without religious bias... and you call us criminals.

You build atomic bombs, you wage wars, you murder, cheat, and lie to us and try to make us believe it's for our own good, yet we're the criminals.

Yes, I am a criminal. My crime is that of curiosity. My crime is that of judging people by what they say and think, not what they look like.

My crime is that of outsmarting you, something that you will never forgive me for.

I am a hacker, and this is my manifesto. You may stop this individual, but you can't stop us all... after all, we're all alike.

Congratz for your work.

But it's a wierd feeling, in one hand i'm happy for the exploit, and in the other hand i'm just sad cause reading all these post i'm sure that your finding will only lead to the death of ps3. If people don't buy the games you can be sure that we will never get some really cool game who cost so many money to be done.

I'm just hopping for some old emulation et a really cool media center

But what the hell, congratz again Geohot, you'r one pretty smart guy !

It's funny how all the devs and the site owner of ps3news is doubting him and it seems like there trying to always push him in a different direction saying his methods won't work but there in the same single file line asking for what he has it almost seems like they don't want the ps3 hacked I smell something real fishy with ps3news don't you ever wonder how they always seem to get there hands on anything Sony related with no problem at all hardware or software and there always saying they have someone on the inside if I do remember correctly wasn't there something during the ps2 days about the owner of the site being paidoff by Sony I think they report ever exploit to Sony and Sony keeps them happy with what ever they want it's my thought take it for what you will geo keep everthing away from those turds or you can expect bad things to happen to your exploit also it's funny how there scrambling around for this and that I don't trust them!

To all the paranoid tards who think this will kill the ps3/psn and those who think piracy will kill the ps3/psn... get a brain. The ps3 isn't exactly the poster child for sales performance (both hardware and games) when it comes to consoles, yet its the most secure. At the very least sony will sell more hardware and with more hardware I suspect they will sell more games. Not everyone who wants this thing hacked is a pirate with enough money to buy games. Some will buy a ps3 because of the new capabilities and end up buying games or movies for it, some will buy the ps3 because all of a sudden they can get games to play on it.

I thoroughly hate ppl who cry Armageddon without thinking. The same goes to paranoid devs who have been treating the 360 preferentially for years even though it was hacked and now will be thinking a hacked ps3 is bad news. Just think for a minute before you run your mouth.

Consumers with sense don't like closed systems period.
