MICROSOFT CORPORATION

Dear Bill:

This is to follow up on our phone call of yesterday.

I appreciate your offer to sit down with me to discuss any potential issues GO may have with Pen Windows.

As I explained, at this time I am simply trying to learn enough about Pen Windows to make an informed evaluation.

I'd like to take you up on your offer to provide us with relevant materials without restriction. We have already received the Pen Windows developer kit, but it arrived with a license agreement stating that it must only be used for the purpose of developing applications. Given our conversation, I will assume that it is OK with you for us to examine these materials without signing the license. If this is not what you had in mind, please let me know by next Monday. I will wait until then before opening the materials.

Should the developer's kit not contain the current version of the "notebook applet", may I request that you forward this to me (object code is fine, as long as we can run it).

After we get a chance to look over these materials, I will let you know if additional materials will be helpful. I will try to complete an evaluation in a timely manner.

I'd like to reiterate that I have no interest in stirring up press interest in a "GO/Microsoft fight". I appreciate your willingness to cooperate with us, and look forward to resolving the matter.

Sincerely,

S. Gerold Kaplan
Chairman
