RE: Caldera vs. Microsoft

Dear Gary:

As you are aware, Novell recently completed a transaction wherein it sold its DOS line of business to Caldera Inc. Caldera has subsequently filed a lawsuit against Microsoft for Microsoft's conduct to monopolize the Desktop Operating System market. As part of the Asset Purchase Agreement, Novell has promised to provide Caldera with our documents and files related in any way to any cause of action Novell may have had against Microsoft in this market. At one point, you assisted Novell in drafting a complaint and providing advice on these issues you may have done some interviewing of witnesses as well. Could you please forward to me copies of any files, tapes, or other documents that you may have which may be associated with this action.

Thank you.

Best regards,

David R. Bradford
