HEARING

This case comes before the court for a hearing on the civil bench warrant.

The defendant has been served with the bench warrant and is not present.

Counsel agree that the defendant should be held in contempt of court and that the writ of attachment should be extended.

Based upon discussions with counsel, the court finds the defendant in contempt of court. The court orders a $20,000 civil bench warrant to issue for the defendant.

The court orders that the writ of attachment be extended to the next bench warrant hearing set for September 22, 2008 at 10:00 am.

If the defendant is taken into custody before the 9/22/08 hearing date, counsel can contact the court for an immediate hearing.

Mr Wahlquist is asked to prepare the civil bench warrant for the court's signature.

HEARING

This case comes before the court for a hearing on the Defendant's Objection to the Constable's Sale.

Counsel present argument to the court concerning this issue.

The now being fully informed having read the pleadings in the file and received argument from both counsel, the court enters the following ruling.

The court denies the objection to the sale. The court finds that Utah Rules govern in this case. The court discounts the defendant, Mark Robbins' Declaration, as the court feels he has no credit with this court.

Counsel for the defendant is to disclose the members to plaintiff's counsel before the sale, if no members are found to be defendants, the sale will be canceled.

Mr. Andreason is asked to prepare an Order consistent with the court's ruling.

HEARING

Defendant's Motion to Stay Constable Sale comes before the Court

by a telephone conference.

The motion is argued to the Court by respective counsel and submitted.

The Court denies the defendant's motion to stay the constable sale.

1. The Court finds that Judge Peuler has already ruled on the issue.

2. The Court agrees to the lateness of the motion. The defendant was served with the Notice of Constable Sale on April 30, 2010. The Motion to Stay the Constable Sale was filed on May 17, 2010 (One day before the Sale).

3. The Court finds going forward does not impact the issues. Mr. Wahlquist to prepare the order.
